Job description:

I managed the Design Department, in charge of Performance, Daily workflow and UX design projects. Improving our internal processes is a major challenge in any organization, and my skills of managing teams in high-stressful environments are vital to get the job done. We were a team of 4, and I was one of them, working also as a Designer.

We used Clickup on a daily bases, to manage all the department workflow.

Lead Graphic Designer

LAST LAP

Job description:

Began my career as a Graphic Designer in 2007 and spent 14 years growing within a small, fast-paced company where I took on a wide range of responsibilities alongside design.

With an "all hands on deck" mindset, I contributed across departments, but design remained at the core of my role. For 12 years, I led the creative team — guiding a group of Designers (including myself) and overseeing design output across multiple projects.
